More Choices for Your Fertility & Family-Building Care

More options. More locations to receive care. More support along the way.

Through your Walmart fertility and family building benefits provided by Kindbody, you now have access to an expanded network of providers with US Fertility, the largest physician-led fertility network in the nation. Read below for what this means for you, including if you are currently receiving care.

What this means for you

Your fertility and family building benefits remain the same, including the financial support and benefit design focused on supporting you and your family throughout your care journey. Kindbody will still serve as Walmart's benefit administrator and your primary point of access.

The network expansion means you have more choices for quality fertility and family building care with access to:

- More providers and clinics — Access a growing network of clinics nationwide
- Personalized guidance — Your Kindbody Care Team for Walmart is available to help you understand your options and navigate your care

If you are currently receiving care

In most cases, no action is needed.

As the network expands, some members may experience a change in their current care location.

If you are directly impacted, your Walmart Care Team will contact you personally to discuss your care, understand your preferences, and help you identify the best next steps.

Your care and experience are important to us, and we'll be here to support you through any transition that may be necessary.

Your Walmart fertility and family-building benefit remains in place.

Same quality care. More options.

Every provider in the expanded Kindbody network with US Fertility is evaluated based on factors such as clinical quality, outcomes, access, patient experience, and care coordination.

The expanded network provides you greater access to quality care while making it easier to find a provider that's best suited for you and your clinical needs. You can see which nearby providers are in the US Fertility network by logging into your Kindbody member portal. This network list, along with your consultation information, will help you and the Kindbody Care Team select the best provider for your needs.

Please note: The current status of your $20,000 lifetime maximum benefit for fertility care remains the same.

Your Kindbody Care Team for Walmart is here for you

Your dedicated Kindbody Care Team for Walmart is here to support you with:

- Initial consultation with a specialist to discuss your family building needs and start testing
- Find an in-network provider that fits your fertility or family-building needs
- Understand your benefit and coverage
- Explore your care options
- Navigate your next steps
- Coordinate care when needed
- Answer any questions you may have

1. Learn About Your Benefit & Activate
   Visit kindbody.com/Walmart

2. Call or Email Your Walmart Care Team
   (P): 855-454-7663
   (E): walmart@kindbody.com

3. Log on to Your Member Portal
   Visit portal.kindbody.com

Reach out to your dedicated Kindbody Care Team for Walmart at Kindbody.

We're here to help you understand your options and find the care that's right for you.